the sunshine of your smile

On dusty roads with skies out of a painting, I was lost in endless time with you

Calling at your house out in the country, in the air I'd smell that rare perfume

Sunday roast and wood-smoke from a gum tree, honeysuckle rose, blackcurrant bloom

Riverside we'd sit and talk 'til evening... then on the porch we'd watch the rising moon

At our feet your dogs slept, softly dreaming... such happy times together, me and you...
